WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1876.

The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel seems to be opposed to Tilden.

R. W. L. MILLWOOD, of Douglasville, will preach at the Third Baptist batch to-night, (May 24, 1876), at 10 o'clock.

The Columbus Times thinks that no justice should be done, even to a bitter political opponent, and believes that Blaines bold trouble has been satisfactorily explained.

The Rome Courier thinks we need civil service reform and that present party leaders to a great extent are the curse of the nation. True as to the radicals beyond question.

A FULL and strong delegation at the St. Louis convention is urged by the Columbus Enquirer. Our best men should be there to aid in keeping down divisions and selecting the candidate, who can carry the largest number of states in the election.

SAYS the Augusta Constitutional: "If men of letters cannot strive against one another, without turning their brains into pig-pens, they had better retire with at least a ray of decency and leave this world for Mohammed's paradise."

The Athens Georgian administers a scathing rebuke to the New York Herald for its hypocritical advice to the south about shotguns. The New York Herald understands the matter well enough, if it were only honest enough to forego a sensational editorial.

The Dalton Enterprise argues that, wherever in the north or south, states have wheeled into the democratic line, plenty and prosperity have invariably resulted. And it rightly claims that no better argument for democratic success could be adduced.

THE Savannah News takes issue with the Charleston Courier for its advocacy of the Tilden for the democratic nomination, and cannot see the force of its reasoning. We presume that the growing sentiment in favor of Gov. Tilden is due mainly to the necessity for a candidate who will certainly carry New York, and who is admitted to be acceptable on the score of ability and character. What the south needs, and what the country needs is a candidate who can win the race, provided always that he is a good man.

The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel kindly says:

The cantata of Esther was a great success in Atlanta. Can't we get the management to reproduce it in Augusta?

There was a general desire among our Cantata friends to visit our beautiful neighbor city, but the great attendant expense was alone sufficient to decide the management against it. But we are none the less obliged to our Augusta friends for their indications of encouragement to our Library enterprise.

Should be turned out of office.

New York Sun.

We think it is essential to the welfare of the country that the republican party should be turned out of office. It has governed the country too long. It has become thoroughly corrupt. No doubt there are good men in it, able men, statesmen and patriots; but in spite of their ability and patriotism, they have been rendered as members and advocates of the party, the republican organization has become a den of thieves, a lair of robbers, and we have no hope of its reform through any other means than its expulsion from power, patronage and the opportunity of plunder.

Now Poker Schenck feels.

N. Y. Sun.

It may be agreeable for Poker Schenck to regard himself as minister to England, but it is not agreeable to us, who are under the circumstances of his case, he is still receiving the salary of his office every week in Washington; he must feel some satisfaction over the profits of his lost game.

Replies.

Editor's Constitution: I notice in your valuable journal an objection to a Marylander, which starts with some person who boasts of possessing a piece of Washington's original coffin. Now such a relic is not "tall to see," for I own one myself, 3x11 inches, which I obtained of third hand many years ago, and can easily prove it to be true.

Speaking of relics, I would say that I have in my possession the top of the flag staff of the 27th Illinois regiment. I have pasted on it an extract from an Atlanta paper of the time of its capture, which thus reads:

"The 27th Ill. Regt. of Infantry, I. 20th Tennessee regiment, Vaughan's brigade, leaped over the breastworks and seized the standard presented by Gen. Buford to the 27th Illinois regiment, and wrested it from its bearer, and it was the last flag to be captured, for which day Gen. Hardie presented it to the gallant sergeant. It was inscribed, 'Belmont, Union, Stone River.'

When the sergeant brought the flag to Gen. Hardie, he said: "General, I would like to have this silk flag."

"Well," replied the heroic general to the gallant sergeant, "you may have the silk, only let me take the staff to make myself a walking stick."

The top of this staff is 11 inches, and shows it about 12 inches long, and giving clear proof of the brave act of the sergeant.

He is one of the unsung heroes of the late war, and I take pleasure in here recording his name—W. J. Woltz.

ANY POET TO HIS MISTRESS.

Immortal Verse! is mine the strain
To sing, and live! As ages waste Will one be found to sing the lays
That you will sing?—No, you shall not!

With these be out to prove! Ah, no!
My soul lost may never grow
My heart is in the quarry yet,
Oblivious weaves my corded

Immortal for a morn'—a week!
The game is up, the spade is spurned,
The song will die, the harp's unstrung
But, singing, have I many a song!

Consigned to lead an ear the while
I drift in my "I" of somnolent dreams,
To sleep, or let it live,
My very best was all I had to give.

The flutes play on what wills,
And hints a bower, and lights and sings:
To light and live—die in yours,
—FREDERICK LOCKER.

CROP NOTES.

—Wheat harvesting will begin in Newton county within ten days. The stand of cotton is good.

—The rust and the fly have damaged wheat in Clay, Oconee, Jackson, Walton, and Franklin counties fully one-fourth. The yield may be as large as last year as the acreage is greater
this year.

—Myriads of lice infest the wheat in Griffin.

—The rust did but little damage to wheat in Monroe county. The work of harvesting has commenced.

—"J. C. C. B." writes us from Barnesville.

—A days trip into the country last week gave me a good opportunity of judging of the crop prospect in and around Barnesville. The wheat crops were nearly matured, will prove an average crop. The oat crops generally better than usual, though not very vigorous, healthy and growing luxurantly. A good stand of the crops are in the main well worked. The lands seemed to have been well broken, fertilized, and well manured, though the unfavorable March, I think crops are exceedingly fine. I am satisfied that there is at least 25 per cent more wheat planted this year than as, and as freely concluded this section, the favorable seasons will make a sufficient crop to supply the market
its demand. There is quite a sprinking of peaches left, and should they mature will be exceedingly fine. Our farmers are staying at home closely,
nursing their farms attentively, husbanding rigidly their slender resources, and are in a poor state of things financially than heretofore. So much for the crop prospects of Pike, Monroe and Upson counties.

—Shattered Constitutions Rebuilt.

In the use of a wholesome invigorant like the only hope of rebuilding a shattered constitution. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are not only an invigorant, but a tonic, but are the most restorative and invigorating tonic of the stomach, liver and bowels which are incompatible with a return of health and strength. When the system is enfeebled by disease, by the wear and tear of business life, by continuous mental anxiety, by the continual consequent upset of the system, by the loss of weight and by sedentary habits, the Bitters are the most reliable medical agent for imparting permanent vigor to the debilitated form. The new stock of vitality which they infuse into broken down physi-ques and the orderly action which they establish among the organs of digestion, secretion, and excretion, will constitute its best safeguard against material disease.

ANY POET TO HIS MISTRESS.

Immortal Verse! Is mine the strain
To sing and live! An age was wonderful, when all the world was young,
And when man stood as you now stand!

Will there be one to praise? Ah, no!
My laurel leaf may never grow
My bough is in the quarry yet,
Olivine weaves my cord.

Immortal for a mother's touch!
The garden's bower I speak;
The song will die, the harp's instructing
But, singing, have I wistly song?

Longed to lead on the white
Wings of the wind, on your bough,
To sing it let it lie, if let it lie,
My verse was all I had to give.

The laurel flies on winged wings,
Couch'd if my poor venture endures,
To light and live to die in yours.

—FREDERICK LOCKER.

Crop Notes.

—Wheat harvesting will begin in Newbern within ten days. The stand of cotton is good.

—The rust and the fly has damaged wheat in Clarke, Oconee, Jackson, Walton, Banks and Franklin counties fully one-fourth. The yield may be as large as last year as the acreage is greater
this year.

—Myriads of lice infest the wheat in Griffin.

—The rust did but little damage to wheat. More cotton. The work of harvesting has commenced.

—C. C. R. writes us from Barnesville as follows:

A day's trip into the country last
week gave me a good opportunity of
judging of the crop prospect in and around Barnesville. The wheat crops were nearly matured, and, from an average crop, the yield will be good. The unfavorable March, I think crops are exceedingly fine. I am satisfied
that there is at least 25 per cent more wheat planted this year than last. The yield will be good. The cotton with favorable seasons will make a sufficiency of breadstuffs to supply
its demand. There is quite a sprinkling of peaches left, and should they mature will be exceedingly fine. Our
farmers are staying at home closely,
nursing their farms, attending to household affairs, and, from an average crop, the yield will be good. The
